GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Second Reading of the Bill

(Special to the Bulletin).
Ottawa, Ont., July 31.—Discussion on the Grand Trunk Pacific bill resumed again today on the second reading of the bill. There were no new developments today. Routine business only was taken up and the opposition was obstructing, as usual. The press comments on the proposal as presented are very favorable. There is no indication of Blair's action or of the line to be taken by the opposition as yet.

Successful Candidates

Regina, August 1.—The following are the successful pupils who wrote at Edmonton on the public school leaving examination: Edmonton—H. Bragg, Ada Brewster, Alice Griffiths, Alice Doss, E. * Canada's Opportunity Ottawa, July 28.—Information has reached the agriculture department from Japan that there is going to be a shortage in the wheat crop of Japan by about 30 per cent less than last year and also a considerable shortage in Okeas, from which Japan gets a quantity of her wheat supply. In consequence of the political difficulties in Manchuria there will also be a shortage in the wheat trade between Japan and Manchuria. In this connection the Hon. Sydney Fisher points out that now is the time for the Canadian farmer to decide to ship into the Japanese market as there will be an increased demand for Canadian wheat, which has attracted so much attention since the Canadian exhibition at Osaka. It is thought that if Canada and her neighbors step into the increased market they can easily capture the entire trade.

PUBLIC MEETING

Citizens Express Their Views

A public meeting for the discussion of municipal matters was announced for last evening in Edmonton Hall to commence at eight o'clock. At 8:45 the meeting was called to order by Mayor Short with Counsellors Gallagher and Cushing on the platform. Upwards of two hundred ratepayers were present and although it at first looked rather one-sided, later great interest was taken in the debate. Numerous ratepayers boldly announced their own personal opinions on the action of the council in connection with the by-law to raise $8,000 for the purchase of land for a nuisance ground and a gravel pit. As the meeting progressed it proved to be one of the most successful of its kind ever held in Edmonton, for there were certainly no half-hearted avowals of policy; but citizen after citizen expressed definitely and convincingly his approval or disapproval of the manner of submitting the by-law. The strictest order prevailed throughout.

Mayor Short, in opening the meeting, reviewed the history of the by-law. It was found necessary to prepare a nuisance ground and gravel pit. The most careful steps were taken quickly to choose the best sites. Negotiations were opened with the government for the purchase of twenty-five acres of the jail site. They recognized that if they wished to get the most advantageous terms they should close the bargain at once. This they did. Options were secured on the selected gravel pit and the by-law was submitted to the council. It was defeated by one vote. Only 32 votes were cast altogether out of a possible 600. This was not a fair representation. Members of the council had forgotten the date of the polling and were not present to vote. The council unanimously came to the conclusion that it was merely careless that defeated the by-law, and as the options on the gravel pit would expire in a few days, decided to purchase the twenty lots pending the ratification of their action by the ratepayers. Why did the council close with the owners of the lots? Because by this time "the owners had realized that their lots were wanted by the municipality and hence were about to raise their selling price. The by-law was again submitted and this time met with stronger disapproval than formerly. The council then decided to call a public meeting. The mayor said that they might have called the meeting before, but the amount to be voted was not large and the advantage was obvious. A nuisance ground was absolutely necessary. A crematorium will soon have to be installed in Edmonton and then this twenty-five acres can be used for railway purposes. The Grand Trunk Pacific are heading here and they will want station grounds. In connection with the gravel pit, Edmonton is now past the village stage and some action will have to be taken in the near future for the paving of our main streets. Gravel and best of gravel will be necessary. It is proposed next year to macadamize at least a part of Jasper avenue. Gravel sidewalks will have to be laid and the best gravel procurable will be an absolute necessity. The city engineer examined all the gravel pits in the locality. The best, and by far the best, was the site chosen. He repeated the reasons which compelled them to close with the offers for these twenty lots. An extensive competition was made between the river gravel and gravel from the pit. There was no adhesive quality in the river gravel and then although inferior, it could only be taken out at one season of the year. The pit gravel is always procurable. River gravel is not suitable for making permanent pavements or gravel sidewalks on a road of having no binding material in it. The cost of getting gravel out of the river is at least fifteen cents a yard, and from the pit six cents a yard. The engineer arrived at these figures after extensive calculation of the amount of gravel in the pit, the amount paid for it, etc. Then when the gravel was all used the land will still belong to the city.

the town and on account of the inevitable rise in value will be a valuable asset to the corporation. The present was a critical time in Edmonton's future. A forward policy must be adopted. There must be no resting on our oars. If there were anything reprehensible about the action of the council the mayor wanted to bear it. He referred to various cases of past history where Edmonton lost money by such delay. The electric light was paying a dividend. The waterworks system would be paying before the end of the first year. Everything in Edmonton was progressing and no step should be taken to stop the city's progress.

Councillor Gallagher heartily endorsed every statement made by the mayor and said that as a private speculation the action of the council would be highly successful. The properties will one day be a very valuable asset to the town.

Councillor Cushing thought that the by-law was not defeated on its merits, but there were other considerations in the minds of those who voted against it. One occurrence that caused many to vote against the by-law was the impending under the town pound, by-law, of a number of cows. The owners said they would defeat this by-law because their cows were impounded. There was opposition against the council on other grounds, so the by-law was defeated. This is not a fair stand. He fully endorsed the mayor's statements and justified the prompt action of the council, and said that the action of those who voted against the by-law was not justified.

Mayor Short then invited full and free discussion of the by-law and the action of the council.

J. H. Picard—"Have you bought this property?"

Mayor Short—"Yes."

J. H. Picard—"Were you justified in doing so?"

Mayor Short—"We had to act promptly and the buying was good buying."

The mayor repeated several of his arguments to prove that the prompt action of the council in closing the deal was justified. The whole block was purchased to avoid a possible action for damages by property holders in the vicinity.

Councillor Grierson said the Mayor's figures on the estimated cost of procuring river gravel were too low. He had considerable experience in this connection. He did not think the council could get river gravel for less than 30 cents a yard and this would mean a gain of 24 cents a yard for the gravel. The river gravel is never satisfactory.

K. W. McKenzie said that in connection with the wisdom of obtaining said nuisance ground and gravel pit, he had not heard one dissenting voice. Yet the by-law was defeated by a certain element, who evidently had their own reasons for doing so. He said they were there last night but they would probably have nothing to say to justify their action. Such was the story of most public meetings in Edmonton. He expressed his opinion that the action of the council in buying without first consulting the people was decidedly wrong and was one of the main reasons for the defeat of the by-law.

J. H. Picard said that the action of the council was an unwholesome precedent. He referred to the action taken by the Edmonton ratepayers at the time of granting the $23,600 bonus for the railway bridge. A public meeting was held, a joint note drawn up and afterwards the by-law was submitted and was carried. This was not an act of the council but of the ratepayers. Then again when it was agreed to bonus the Canadian Northern a similar action was taken. But now after the by-law has been defeated twice the council comes before the people asking for their endorsement. If the meeting was called before submitting the by-law he had no doubt it would have carried by an overwhelming majority. He took his seat amid applause.

Mr. Jas. McDonald took exception to certain remarks of ex-Mayor McKenzie, which led to a slight passage at arms between these two gentlemen.

T. W. Lines said that there was a strong public opinion in opposition to the action of the council in anticipating the adoption of the by-law. He believed that the town should make haste slowly. The mayor and council were servants of the ratepayers and should act accordingly.

K. W. McKenzie and Jas. McDonald thought that the principle of anticipating the adoption of the by-law was wrong.

T. W. Lines suggested the taking of a vote to test the feeling of the meeting on the action of the council.

W. H. Cooper objected to the taking of such a vote, saying that it would defeat its own ends.

Chas. May stated his disapproval of the action of the council, saying that it was a bad precedent. He spoke in favor of procuring river gravel, saying that thousands of loads could be procured from the river and laid on vacant lots and distributed later, and thus give employment to men and teams.

J. W. Huff agreed that there were vast quantities of gravel in the river, but said that when laid on roads it was loose and hard on horses and even then could not be obtained for less than thirty cents a yard. He objected to the method suggested by Mr. May as it would require to be moved twice. There was no use in creating work and what was good for a private individual was good for a municipality.

J. H. Picard wanted to know if there was gravel in the lots they purchased and if they had dug to find out. He asked if the council were going to continue to speculate in real estate, and if they were always going to buy and never sell.

Chas. May said that a proper macadam could be made out of crushed stone from the river. He said that there were various objections to opening up a gravel pit on such a beautiful flat and that it would depreciate the value of adjoining property.

Mayor Short answered several statements which various speakers had made. On the question of gravel being on the land purchased all a person need do is to go and look at the railway grade through lands adjoining the property. If the town had not purchased the lots the railway company would have done so. He answered the charge of speculating on lands by denying that it was a speculation, saying that it was an absolute necessity. He defended the action of the council in their prompt purchase of the property. The nuisance ground has cost $2,500, the gravel property $4,800, making $7,300 instead of $8,000. At the time of first submitting the by-law, it was not definitely known whether several of the lots could be purchased from the Hudson Bay Company for the figures quoted, so to make it safe $8,000 was asked for. The extra $700 need not be spent. The executive of a joint stock company acts without consulting all the shareholders and a council had often to act similarly, considering that some ratepayers needed a little more than ordinary coaxing to get them to do their duty.

Chas. May, T. W. Lines and others objected to the scolding manner adopted by the mayor and believed that although the mayor and council were actuated by the highest motives, nevertheless, their action was ill-advised.

Councillor Cushing said there were three courses to adopt: (1) Sell the property and pay back to the town the $8,000 expended; (2) Pay the money out of this year's taxes; (3) Re-submit the by-law.

Jas. A. McDougall moved that, although not endorsing the action of the council in the method of submitting the by-law, and not considering the action of the council as a precedent, this meeting requests that the by-law be again submitted. T. W. Lines seconded the motion. After some discussion on the wisdom of purchasing up-odate road making machinery the motion was put and the two hundred ratepayers unanimously requested the council to re-submit the by-law.

Territorial Legislation

Special for the Bulletin. Following is a summary of the provisions of a general nature passed by the Territorial Assembly at its last session. As it is impossible, in the longer ordinances to give summary, only a brief synopsis of the ordinances is attempted, view to indicating the subjects upon.

Hail Insurance. Ordinance regarding hail insurance passed in 1901, in which the government undertook to insure grain against loss by hail, and which any hail insurance company business in the Territories, is and another ordinance substituting, allowing an assessment of hail, are not re-enacted, and the rate is raised from ten to fifteen cents per acre. This must be paid when the insurance is applied for. Other provisions practically unchanged.

Marriage. Ordinance before a marriage license issued to any female under age, it was necessary to the license issuer, by affidavit, consent of her parents or guardian, or had been obtained. Now, amendment any female over who is living apart from her guardian and earning her own money may be excused from obtaining consent on a statement being made by the applicant.

Municipal. Ordinance and 2 of section 721 of the ordinance, are re-enacted in unaltered terms. Clause 13 by exempting from taxation derived from personal property to $1,000. The ordinance applicable to 1903 assessments.

Drainage. Ordinance before the Territorial legislation of drainage was contained in 1901 to 1902, inclusive, of the ordinance. These sections repealed and a new ordinance passed. Provision is made for the construction of government drains, the cost of which is to be borne by the person affected by the drain, or to a judge of the Supreme Court. Every parcel of land shown by the engineer's report to be benefited shall bear a portion of the cost of construction. Provision is also made for the construction of private ditches. The ordinance applies to all government ditches, the construction of which is not completed at the time of the passing of the ordinance, namely, June 19th, 1903.

Public Inquiries. The ordinance respecting inquiries concerning public matters is amended by providing for the appointment by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, whenever he deems it expedient, of inspectors to examine into and report upon the affairs of any public administrator or other public officer.

Legislative Assembly. Formerly members in coming to and returning from the sessions, were allowed their actual travelling expenses, the amounts being settled by the speaker. Now the amount is fixed at five cents per mile of the railway route and the member's actual travelling expenses between his residence and the railway station when the distance is greater than five miles. Provision is made that no member shall be disqualified from holding his seat by reason of being a member of any incorporated company having a contract with the government, but no such member shall vote on any question affecting such contract.

Interpretation. An addition of interest only to the legal profession, is made to paragraph 48 of section 8 of the Interpretation ordinance.

Civil Justice. A number of amendments are made to the Civil Justice ordinance. Authority is given for the employment of shorthand writers in court. If the sum of twenty-five dollars, which in some cases is exempt from attachment under a garnisher, had been paid into court it shall not be necessary for the debtor to claim the same, but he may have it paid out to him on application to the clerk, if such application is made within two months of such payment in or before judgment is recovered against him, otherwise it, or whatever portion of it is necessary to satisfy the claim, goes to the creditor. Amendments are made to the following rules: 469, 510, 536, Par. 1, 558, 570 and 597. (To be continued.)

PLENTY OF COAL IN PEACE RIVER
Ottawa, July 27.—H. Campbell of Cow Bay Cape Breton, who was in charge of a prospecting party in the Peace River country for about a year, has returned to Ottawa. He represented Ontario people. Mr. Campbell was in search of coal. He calculates that he staked out an area of coal amounting in all to 250,000,000 tons. Some of the seams were nine feet thick. The coal is of good quality. It is near Hudson Hope, not a great distance from the entrance to the Peace River Pass. Mr. Campbell returns tomorrow to the Calgary district to look over some coal lands there. This time he will represent Quebec capitalists.

WATERWORKS AND SEWERAGE SYSTEM

The following is the report Resident Engineer Washburne has made to the city council on the waterworks and sewerage system:

"As requested I beg to report upon the progress of the work done to date on the waterworks and sewerage system."

The system outlined in 1902 and for the construction of which the bylaw was passed included a pumping station with necessary machinery a sedimentation basin water tower and a distributing system of water pipes and sewers.

The pumping station and sedimentation basin are completed, although some work may still be required on the latter to make it perfectly water-tight.

The water tower foundations are ready for the ironwork, for which a contract has been let to the Chicago Bridge and Iron Company for completion by October 15th next.

Of the contract for the labor of excavating trenches and laying the water mains and sewers there remains from twenty to twenty-five per cent still to be done. This is equal to about 6,000 feet of trenching and with favorable weather should be completed by the middle of September next.

The streets along which water mains and sewers have been laid are shown below.

Materials were purchased during the winter to the value of about $5,500 for the purpose of putting down connections from the sewers and water mains in the center of the streets to the street line. A contract for the labor of excavating these trenches was let and up to date about seventy-five have been put in.

Along Jasper avenue these connections are all being laid now between Namayo avenue and First Street, H. B. R. to allow of street improvements next year. In the residential parts of the town they are being put down when application is made for same. Materials were purchased for over three hundred connections, but it is not likely there will be more than two hundred put in this year. To carry this plan out and pay for balance of materials will cost about $11,500.

Street Extensions. It has been found advisable to extend the limits of the system as originally outlined to include certain streets which are given below.

The property owners living on these streets have agreed to become water-takers, and to guarantee an annual revenue of at least six per cent of the total cost of construction.

To complete these street extensions will cost about $16,000. The value of materials now on order for same is about $3,500.

Two of these extensions have been completed, viz: Third street from Victoria to a point 315 feet south, and Queen's street from Jasper to Rice street.

To complete these street extensions and house sewer and water service connections will require about $27,500 additional to the amount voted for in 1902.

Accompanying report to council dated July 30th, 1903.

List of streets along which water mains and sewers have been laid to date as originally outlined:

Jasper avenue, from Namayo to Fourth street and sewer.

Victoria avenue, from Third to Sixth, water and sewer.

Victoria avenue, from Sixth to Eleventh, water only.

Second street, from Jasper to Victoria, water and sewer.

Third street, from Jasper to Victoria, water and sewer.

Fourth street, from Jasper to McKay, water and sewer.

Fourth street, from McKay to the river, water only.

Fifth street, from McKay to Victoria, water and sewer.

Sixth street, from Victoria to Jasper, water and sewer.

Namayo avenue, from Jasper to Second street, River Lot 10, sewer only.

Namayo avenue, from Second street, River Lot 10, to Fifth street, River Lot 12, water and sewer.

Second street, River Lot 10, from Namayo to Fraser; water and sewer.

First street, River Lot 10, from Namayo to Fraser; water only.

Fraser avenue, from Jasper to Fire Hall, water and sewer.

Fraser avenue, from Fire Hall to Second street, River Lot 10, water only.

Queen's street, from Second street, River Lot 10, to May street, water and sewer.

May street, from Queen's to Howard, water and sewer.

McDougall street, from May to 200 feet south, water and sewer.

List of streets along which mains are to be laid, and for which materials are now being purchased.

Third street, from Victoria to 315 feet south, water and sewer.

Queen's street, from Jasper to Rice, water and sewer.

First street, from Jasper to MacKenzie, water and sewer.

Fraser avenue, from Second street to Third street, River Lot 10, water and sewer.

McDougall street, from Jasper to College avenue, water and sewer.

May street, from Howard to First street, H.B.R. water and sewer.

Second street, River Lot 12, Kinistone to a point 600 feet east, water only.

The first two of these are completed.

INTERESTING VISITORS

George Fugard, of San Diego, California, and W. A. Bondurant, of Los Angeles, California, have been in Edmonton the past few days. It was their intention in coming here to look into an extensive mining scheme in the far north, but arriving at Edmonton they have found that the return trip could not be made within four or five months so they have decided to postpone their trip until next May. Mr. Bondurant is head of a real estate firm in Los Angeles and is largely interested in various mines in the golden state. This is his first trip to our city and he finds Edmonton a fair way to being a big city. He is surprised at the advanced state of progress that the Canadian West has arrived at and looks forward for a brilliant future for this country.

Mr. Fugard is well-known in Edmonton. In November 1897, at the time of the Klondike rush Mr. Fugard, with a party of some eighteen others, mostly from California, set out from Edmonton overland to the Klondike. It was known as the Fugard party, and the experiences that individual members passed through in traversing that immense tract of country from Edmonton to the Arctic circle would fill volumes. The Dominion government cut out a road under the direction of Captain Chalmers from Edmonton by the Swan Hills to Lesser Slave Lake. The party set out with seventy horses, taking their supplies by flatbeds. In six weeks they arrived at Slave Lake. This party and hundreds of other Klondikers experienced the greatest hardships on this trail but Messrs. V. H. Raleigh, Nis Crews, J. B. C. Fisher and G. Fugard made the trip without the loss of a single horse. After many hardships they arrived at Lesser Slave Lake on Christmas day. Here they spent the winter, and in May they again took up their trek to the north.

Messrs. Crews and Fisher stopped at the Livid river and engaged in mining, but Messrs. Raleigh and Fugard continued on their way north. A journey of almost unimaginable privations brought them to the mouth of the Mackenzie river, where they wintered. A number of others were also wintering at this point. Scoury broke out and Mr. Raleigh, among others, was afflicted. In the hope of him recovering it was decided to remain, where they were for four months. However, Mr. Fugard made the eighty-mile portage across the height of land in that district and found himself on a river which flowed into the Yukon. Returning to the mouth of the Mackenzie for his companion, he was disappointed in finding him worse. His trip was given up, and putting Mr. Raleigh in a Peterborough canoe, he started out on his two thousand mile return trip to Edmonton, where he arrived October 10th. This part of the trip Mr. Fugard refuses to talk about, but others inform us that his act is today talked about in the north country as one of the most self-denying actions on record. The privations and hardships were terrible. It was an awful experience for a single man to make the trip, but one can scarcely imagine the added difficulties of having a sick man to take care of. Both gentlemen remained in Edmonton for some time after returning from the north. Mr. Raleigh is now mining at Tonaph, Nevada, and is doing well. He expects to visit Edmonton in about two weeks.

Another old timer in Edmonton who Mr. Fugard frequently sees is A. C. Eaton. Mr. Eaton is now living in Los Angeles drives a good car, and enjoys life in sunny California. Messrs. Fugard and Bondurant intend leaving today for California.
